Titanic's First Night Dinner

Saturday April 10, 2010

Reception 7 p.m.

Rarely served and nearly lost to history, dinner on the first night of Titanic's fateful voyage was a festive and joyous affair. Passengers were full of anticipation of their journey on the day's greatest ocean liner. We will recreate selections from that menu and the first night maiden voyage atmosphere with a gala dinner.

The menu is to include

Hors d'oeuvres
Crème Reine Margot
∞ Supreme of Chicken a la Stanley
∞ Indian Rice ∞
Charlotte Colville ∞
Wine

Be greeted by Capt. Smith as you enter Titanic's first class dining room for your bon voyage night dinner.

A living historian recreating one of Titanic's notable characters will be at selected tables. (Guests may specify a table, space permitting.)
